The Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention (OJJDP) was established by the Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention (JJDP) Act of 1974, Public Law 93-415, as amended. Located within the Office of Justice Programs of the U.S. Department of Justice, OJJDP provides national leadership, coordination, and resources to prevent and respond to juvenile offending and child victimization. OJJDP accomplishes its mission by supporting states, local communities, and tribal jurisdictions in their efforts to develop and implement effective multidisciplinary prevention and intervention programs, and improve the capacity of the juvenile justice system to protect public safety, hold offenders accountable and provide treatment and rehabilitative services tailored to the needs of individual juveniles and their families.
